Mrs. Rhode- Things are going well, considering we are in the midst of winter blahs ☺ Very blessed to be able to be outside for recess and keep the kids active. Thankful Miss Nicole was able to cover for her when she was out in October d/t Coved. Also enjoying being able to get to see Mrs. Myslik's kids in the afternoons. She and Mrs. Myslik are working on the plans for a virtual preschool/kindergarten round up.

Mrs. Myslik- K-2 is going well. They did have to cancel the fall pumpkin patch field trip d/t coved, but they are looking to schedule spring field trip if possible. She has had a couple kids out on extended quarantines but feels it went well as she was able to tailor the needs of each student. Preparing for the 100 day of school, send out list on sign up genius for items needed for this event and thanks the rock star parents for helping out with the needs. Shared singing in church will remain virtual at this point. They are discussing entertainment night, which is typically held in March, but no definite plans on what this will look like this year. Preparing for the virtual art fair. Shared that her husband received a call, and asked for prayers as they determine the future.

Mr. Aguilar- All is going well. He is happy Ella is here. Mentioned she is good in art and can help his students, and he will help her students in Physical education. His class has started a new science book and they are excited about that. He is also happy to see some of his kids on the basketball team.

Ms. Loersch- She is two weeks in and feels ok with how things are going. She shares the kids are good and being respectful and understanding of the changes and new routines. She is working with them now on where they need to be for the biography reports and preparing for the virtual art fair. She said there is a range of needs in her classroom and she is learning how that goes with the multi grade levels.

Future Fundraising: considering Family night is one of the biggest fundraisers of the year, we need to look at more options and encourage participation. Cody will submit the following ideas to the school board for approval.

- Seroogy candy bar sales- there have been some families suggesting this option watch for more information to come on this to determine if we can do this event.
- Dollar days- this would be an event that would allow students to participate in the activity of the day for a dollar donation
- Read-a-thon – students would pledge to read a set about of minutes and ask for sponsors to donate if they reach their goals
